

Imp

Designed by David Mitchell

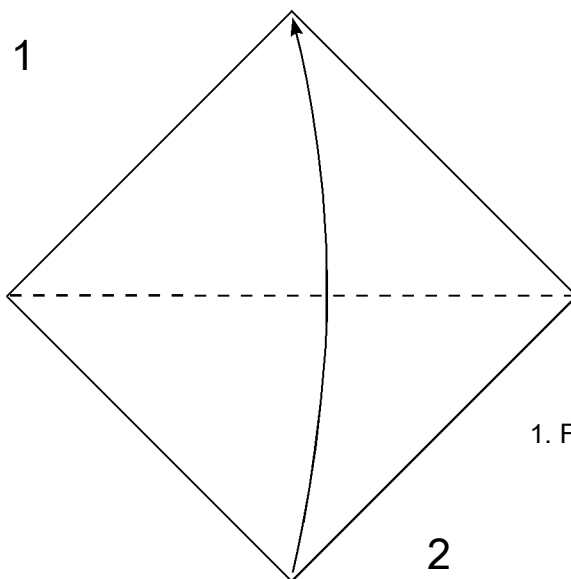

Imp is a very simple two piece design that I created in 2013 for a book called Monstergami. It qualifies as a naive design.

You will need two squares of irogami, paper that is white one side and coloured the other. The design works best if your squares are quite small and if both are the same colour.

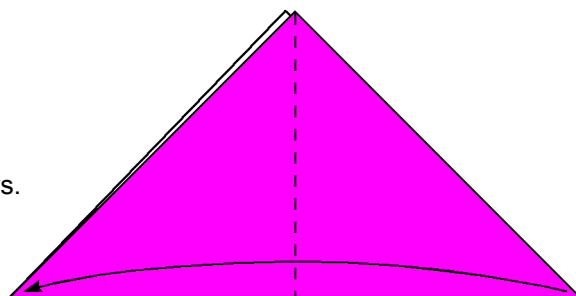

Folding the body

Begin with your first square arranged white side up.

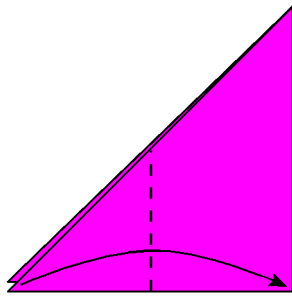

1. Fold in half upwards.

2. Fold in half sideways.

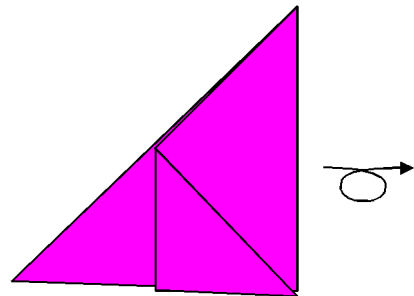

3

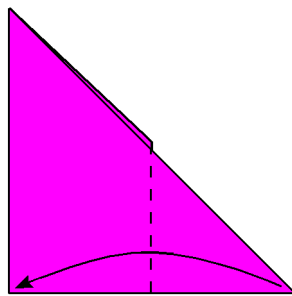

3. Fold the front layers in half sideways.

4

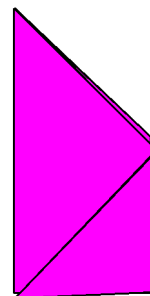

4. Turn over sideways.

5

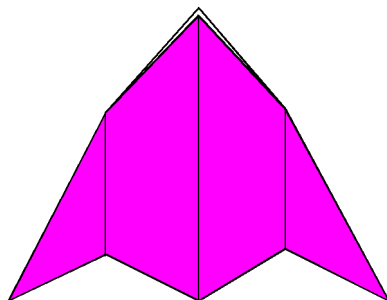

5. Fold the new front layers in half sideways.

6

6. Pull the folds open so that the hinged sections of the paper are at right angles to each other ...

7

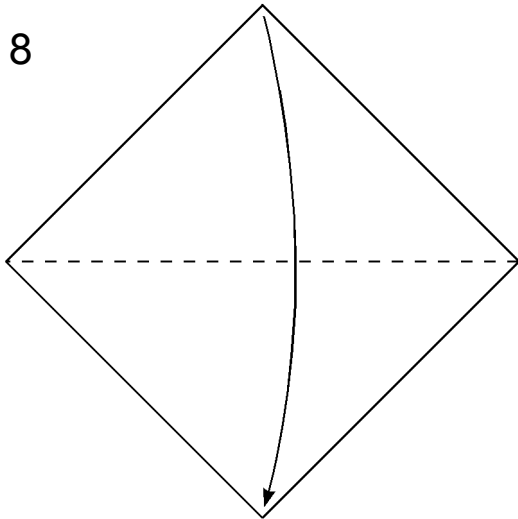

7. ... like this. The body is finished.

Folding the head

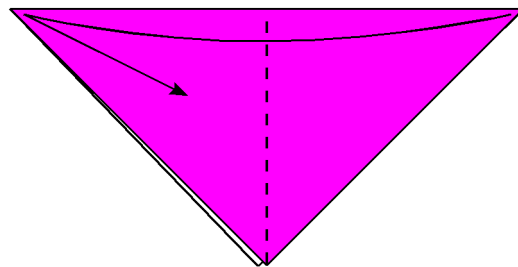

Begin with your second square arranged white side up.

8

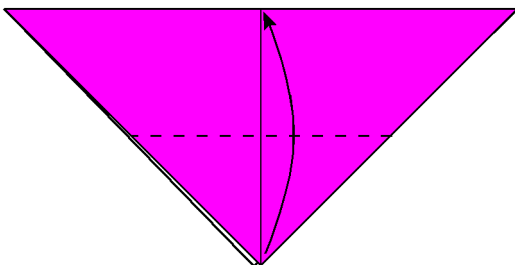

8. Fold in half downwards.

9

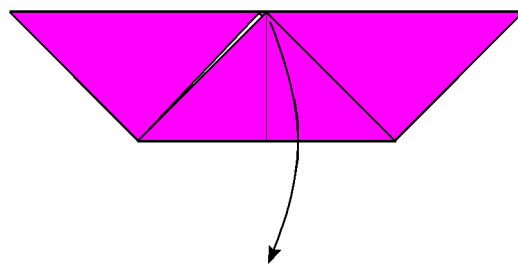

9. Fold in half sideways, then unfold.

10

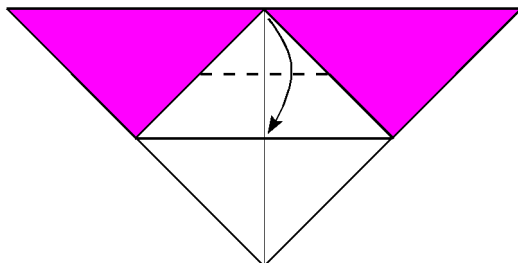

10. Fold both layers in half upwards.

11

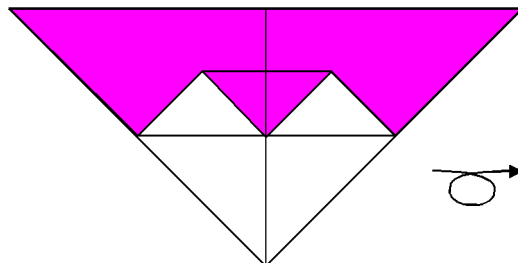

11. Undo the last fold in just the front layer.

12

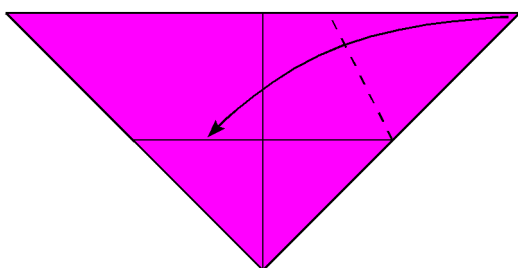

12. Fold the front layer in half downwards.

13

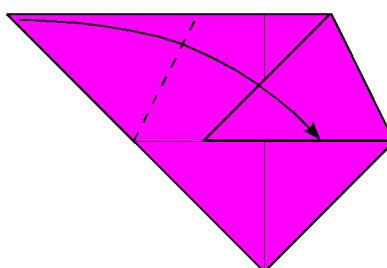

13. Turn over sideways.

14

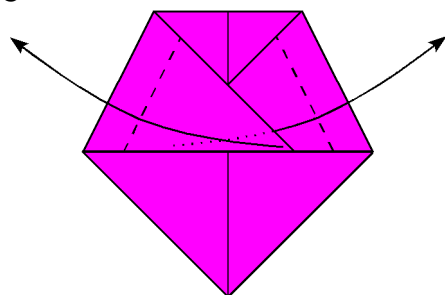

14. Fold the right corner inwards so that the top half of the sloping right hand edge lies along the horizontal crease.

15

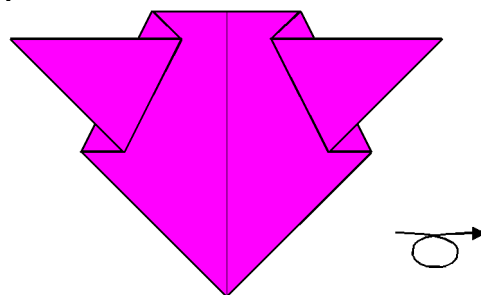

15. Repeat fold 14 on the left hand half of the paper.

16

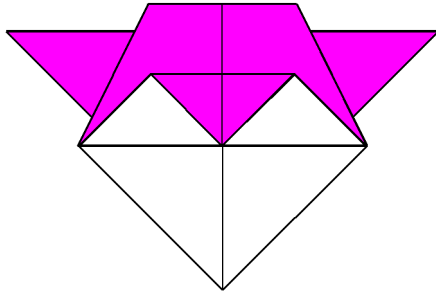

16. Fold both front flaps outwards one by one to create the ears.

17

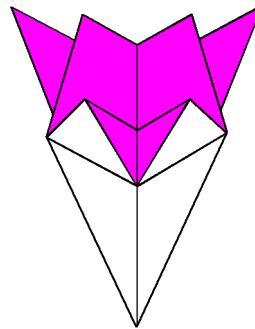

17. Turn over sideways.

18

18. Fold the two halves of the head backwards at right angles along the line of the upright crease.

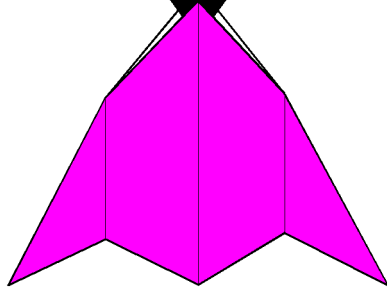

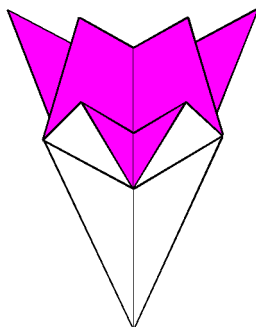

19

19. The head is finished.

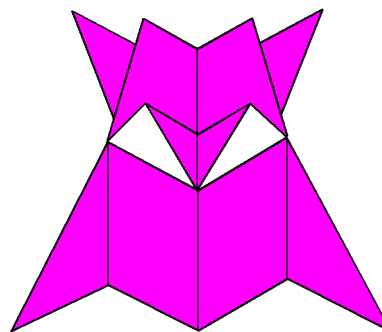

Putting Imp together

18

18. Slide the head onto the body so that the point at the bottom of the head goes in between the layers at the top of the body.

19

19. Imp is finished. Make several in different colours.
