

Bull

Designed by David Mitchell

Bull is a minimalist design that can be folded using just four active folds.

Bull was designed in 1995. I am indebted to Carmela Ligios for spotting the potential for this sketch in the first few folds of Sailboard.

You will need a single square of irogami of a suitable colour. Begin folding with your paper arranged white side up.

1. Make a tiny crease to mark the centre of the bottom edge. This crease is there to help you make folds 2 and 3 symmetrically.

2. Fold the bottom left hand corner inwards as shown.

3. Fold the bottom right hand corner inwards in the same way. These two folds should be mirror images of each other.

4. Fold the top edge downwards to just below the bottom corner of the top white area.

5. Fold the bottom edge upwards along a line fractionally above the top of the remaining white triangle.

6. Swing the new flap backwards out of sight by reversing the direction of the crease, then turn over sideways.

7. Bull is finished.

Copyright David Mitchell 2018
www.origamiheaven.com